1. PDP Protests Alleged Attacks on Kashmiris Outside J&K (Kashmir Life, 1st Feb 2026)

The Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) staged a peaceful demonstration in Srinagar condemning what it described as a rise in harassment and violence against Kashmiris outside Jammu and Kashmir, following the recent assault on an 18-year-old shawl seller in Vikas Nagar, Uttarakhand. Protesters claimed Kashmiris are being targeted due to their identity, with the party's women's wing calling the incident part of a troubling pattern of intolerance. While police in Uttarakhand have registered an FIR and arrested one suspect, the PDP has demanded strict action and greater safeguards to ensure the safety and dignity of Kashmiris living and working outside the region, amid reports of similar harassment in parts of Uttarakhand and Himachal Pradesh.

2. India Drills First Geothermal Mapping Well in Puga Valley (The Tribune, 1st Feb 2026)

Seros has nearly completed drilling India's first geothermal resource-mapping well in Puga Valley, marking a significant step towards harnessing geothermal energy and potentially placing the country on the global geothermal map. Begun in mid-2024, the project has progressed through extreme high-altitude conditions and a narrow summer working window, with the well expected to reach a depth of 900–1,000 metres this season after earlier phases reached 60 and 400 metres. Executed in collaboration with the ONGC Energy Centre, the initiative aims to demonstrate the feasibility of round-the-clock geothermal power generation using binary cycle technology, with subsurface temperatures exceeding 200°C. The first identified reservoir is estimated to have a 10 MW potential, and further exploration wells are planned. Despite considerable logistical and environmental challenges, the project could diversify India's clean energy mix and reduce Ladakh's reliance on diesel, though commercial viability and exploration risks remain key hurdles.

The allocation is slightly higher than the ₹4,692.15 crore originally allotted in 2025–26, though revised estimates for that year rose significantly to ₹7,377.43 crore. While the Centre referred to possible protections under Article 371 and strengthening of Hill Councils, no consensus was reached. Both sides agreed to Abdullah highlighted challenges including geopolitical factors, floods in Jammu and the Pahalgam terror attack, which impacted tourism and other sectors. With own revenues covering only about 25 per cent of expenditure and nearly 60 per cent committed to salaries, pensions and debt servicing, he stressed austerity, debt management and power sector reforms. The projects have enhanced access to education and healthcare, created local employment opportunities, and improved strategic mobility by offering safer movement routes near the Line of Control.

The militants have been engaged multiple times since 18 January in the Chhatru forest area, with fresh contact made near Dolgam on 31 January. A special forces commando was killed during the operation, which has been hampered by difficult terrain, prompting a large-scale deployment and temporary suspension of mobile internet services. Meanwhile, Army Northern Commander Lt Gen Pratik Sharma reviewed operational preparedness in the district. Separately, security forces launched searches in Samba district after suspected Pakistani drones were sighted hovering briefly over Indian territory along the International Border before returning across the border.

11. Jammu and Kashmir Police Bust ₹209 Crore Online Investment Scam

(Kashmir Life, 17th Feb 2026)

The Jammu and Kashmir Police have uncovered a transnational online investment fraud worth at least ₹209 crore, with the total suspected to exceed ₹400 crore, and arrested nine people including alleged kingpin Ekant Yogdutt alias "Dr Morphine" from Hisar, Haryana. Yogdutt was apprehended at Indira Gandhi International Airport after returning from China. The scam, exposed following a complaint in Ganderbal district, involved fake investment platforms promising high cryptocurrency returns, with funds routed through 835 identified bank accounts across districts including Budgam, Srinagar and Baramulla before being layered and transferred outside the region. Police allege the network used mule accounts, encrypted messaging apps and possible bank employee collusion to launder money. Authorities have frozen thousands of such accounts in recent years and are continuing investigations to trace the full money trail and attach properties linked to the accused.

12. NIA Probes 'White-Collar' Terror Module Behind Red Fort Blast

A 'white-collar' terror module comprising radicalised doctors in Jammu and Kashmir has been uncovered, with the National Investigation Agency now leading the probe. The accused — including Muzamil Gannie, Dr Umer-un Nabi (deceased), Adeel

Rather and others — allegedly formed a new outfit named “Ansar Interim” in Srinagar in April 2022 to carry out attacks in J&K and across India. Umer, described as the key operative, is believed to have orchestrated a Vehicle-Borne Improvised Explosive Device (VBIED) plot and prepared Triacetone Triperoxide (TATP) after procuring chemicals from Haryana. The conspiracy culminated in a premature explosion outside the Red Fort on 10 November, killing over a dozen people. Investigations suggest the group assigned structured roles, attempted to recruit a suicide attacker, and maintained links across several states. The network was exposed following a separate probe into Jaish-e-Mohammad posters in Srinagar, which led to multiple arrests and unravelled the wider conspiracy.

PoJK Updates

13. Education Crisis Deepens in Gilgit-Baltistan (Dawn, 4th Feb 2026)

Despite relatively high literacy rates, Gilgit-Baltistan continues to face a severe higher education crisis, lacking even a single medical college due to years of bipartisan political neglect. The region’s two universities — Karakoram International University and University of Baltistan — struggle with chronic underfunding, limited faculty, outdated curricula and weak research facilities, preventing them from developing into strong regional institutions. As a result, over 25,000 students leave the region annually to pursue degrees elsewhere, forcing many families into financial hardship simply to secure basic educational opportunities.

14. Political Momentum Builds Ahead of ‘AJK’ Presidential Election (Pakistan Today, 2nd Feb 2026)

Following the death of President Sultan Mahmood Chaudhry, political manoeuvring has intensified in ‘Azad Jammu and Kashmir’ as parties lobby to elect a new head of state. Consultations and behind-the-scenes meetings are underway in Islamabad and Muzaffarabad to build consensus on a suitable candidate. Prominent names under consideration include Chaudhry Latif Akbar, Sardar Atiq Ahmed Khan, Raja Farooq Haider Khan, Sardar Muhammad Yaqoob Khan, Sardar Tanveer Ilyas Khan, former President Sardar Masood Khan, and former Foreign Office spokesperson Tasneem Aslam. Given the constitutional and symbolic importance of the office, major political parties are stepping up consultations, with the election expected to proceed in accordance with constitutional requirements in the coming days.
